

*Today upon a bus, I saw
A lovely girl with golden hair.
I envied her – she seemed so glad -
And wished I were as fair.
When suddenly she rose to leave,
I saw her hobble down the aisle.
She had one leg and wore a crutch;
But as she passed – a smile!*

*O God, forgive me when I whine.
I have two legs. The world is mine!*

*And then I stopped to buy some sweets.
The lad who sold them had such charm!
I talked with him. He seemed so glad.
(If I were late, 'twould do no harm.)
And as I left, he said to me,
"I thank you. You have been so kind.
It's nice to talk with folks like you.
You see," he said, "I'm blind."*

*O God, forgive me when I whine.
I have two eyes. The world is mine!*

*Later, while walking down the street,
I saw a child with eyes of blue.
He stood and watched the others play.
It seemed he knew not what to do.
I stopped a moment; then I said,
"Why don't you join the others, dear?"
He looked ahead without a word.
And then I knew he could not hear.*

*O God, forgive me when I whine.
I have two ears. The world is mine!*

*With feet to take me where I'd go,
With eyes to see the sunset's glow,
With ears to hear what I would know -
O God, forgive me when I whine.
I'm blessed indeed. The world is mine!*

Seventy-nine years ago on the morning of June 6, 1944, as Allied forces were landing on the beaches of Normandy, President Roosevelt went to the airwaves in America and prayed with our nation for God's blessing and protection upon our brave fighting men.

He prayed, "Almighty God: Our sons, pride of our nation, this day have set upon a mighty endeavor, a struggle to preserve our Republic, our religion and our civilization; and to set free a suffering humanity..."

Let's remember those who gave so much and never forget that freedom has come at a great price.

Sentence Sermons

- A hypocrite is a fellow who is not himself on Sundays.
- A Christian is not to be a village in a valley, but a city that is set on a hill.
- A photographer could not make a living if he made pictures of people as they really are.
- The beginning of anxiety is the end of faith; the beginning of true faith is the evil of anxiety.
- People play around with sin, and then, sin plays around with them.
- Be the job large or small, do it right, or not at all.
- Never make decisions at nighttime, wait until the sun comes up, things will be brighter.

Supper Is Almost Ready

Some of us remember as a child when we were at play (we could never get in a full quota of play before sundown), Mother would step out on the porch and call out, "John!" You'd get so busy, you didn't want to hear her. Then a little louder and more urgently she would say, "John! John!" You knew you had better answer, so you would say, "Yes, Mom." She'd say, "Supper is almost ready. Son, it is getting dark; come on in and get cleaned up." My friends, I believe that if we could take the eyes of the Spirit, we could see our Heavenly Father standing with His hand on the very doorknob of Heaven about ready to step out on the veranda of the sky and shout down to His children making mud pies or doing other things that are not so very important, eternally: "Children, it is getting dark. Come on in and get cleaned up; supper is almost ready." Oh, if you have unsaved loved ones, get them ready for that glad day!
