

My Good Shepherd

The Lord is my Good Shepherd;
His love to me
He has shown.
He welcomed me into His fold;
Then I became one of His own.

He guides me and protects me
And keeps me in His loving care.
He leads me to the quiet streams.
Of His presence, I am aware.

He leads me through the valleys
Of darkness and despair.
Through every trial and temptation,
He promises He'll be there.

At times I become tired and weary,
Because of circumstances in life.
He promises rest for my weary soul.
He gives strength through all the strife.

In time of weakness,
When I start to stray,
He gently brings me back
To the straight and narrow way.

My Lord has been so good to me.
He meets my needs each day.
I don't deserve His love,
But He loves me anyway.

He'll welcome me with open arms
When I walk the valley
Through death's door.
I'll know perfect peace in greener pastures
When I'm with Him, forevermore.
-Delores Morrison, Psalm 23

A Surety

William Jennings Bryan describes securing a few grains of wheat when in Cairo that had slumbered thirty centuries in an Egyptian tomb.

Upon thinking of the unbroken chain of life of the grain we sow and harvest today, he wrote, "If this invisible germ of life in the grain of wheat can pass unimpaired through three thousand resurrections, I shall not doubt that my soul has power to clothe itself with a new body suited to its new existence when this earthly frame has crumbled to dust."

Right Remedy, But...?

A man rushed into a drugstore and asked a pharmacist for something to stop hiccups. The druggist poured a glass of water and threw it into the man's face.

"Why did you do that?" the man exploded angrily.

"Well, you don't have the hiccups now, do you?"

"No!" shouted the customer. "But my wife out in the car still does!"

He Got What He Wanted

A.C. Dixon told the story of a lady who was traveling with her maid and child. A wasp got into the carriage and the child kept crying for it. Finally, the lady said to the woman, "What is the child crying for? Let him have it." A few minutes later the lady was startled by an awful scream from the child and exclaimed in alarm, "What's the matter?" "He got it!" was the servant's calm reply.

Sometimes in His great wisdom, God lets us have the thing we want even though He knows it will bring sting and misery. He allowed Israel to have Saul as king, though He knew it wasn't best for them. But God also knows that we learn through pain and humiliation that His will and way are always best for us.

The Bible says in Psalm 106:15: "And he gave them their request; but sent leanness into their soul."
