

Don't Complain – Go to Work!

Said the little red rooster, "Believe me, things are tough.

Seems that worms are scarcer, and I cannot find enough;

What's become of all those fat ones is a mystery to me; There were thousands through that rainy spell – but now where can they be?

Then the old speckled hen who heard him, didn't grumble or complain -

She had gone through lots of dry spells, she had lived through floods and rain

So she flew up on the grindstone, and she gave her claws a whet,

As she said, "I've never seen the time there weren't worms to get."

She picked a new and undug spot; the earth was hard and firm.

The little rooster jeered, "New ground! That's no place for a worm."

The old hen just spread her feet – she dug both fast and free.

"I must go to the worms," she said, "the worms won't come to me."

The rooster vainly spent his day, through habit, by the ways

Where fat, round worms had passed in squads back in the rainy days.

When nightfall found him supperless he growled in accents rough;

"I'm hungry as a fowl can be. Conditions sure are tough."

He turned then the old hen and said, "It's worse with you;

For you're not only hungry, but must be tired, too.

I rested while I watched for worms, so I feel fairly perk.

But how are you? Without worms, too, and after all that work?"

The old hen hopped to her perch and dropped her eyes to sleep

And murmured in a drowsy tone, "Young man, hear this and weep;

I'm full of worms and happy for I've eaten like a pig.

The worms are there as always – but, boy, I had to dig!"
